PLAINTIFF'S FIRST MOTION TO COMPEL

1. Plaintiff Nicholas Martin brought this action against Bureau of Collection Recovery, LLC ("BCR") to secure redress for violation of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C. § 227 ("TCPA").¹ The defendant debt collection agency has engaged in multiple impermissible autodialed and prerecorded message "robocalls" to plaintiff and others' cell phones, in violation of 47 U.S.C. §227(b). All such calls violate the TCPA unless defendant can show that it had the recipient's "prior express consent." 47 U.S.C. §227(b)(2).

2. BCR called plaintiff on his cellular telephone more than sixty times using its predictive dialer; forty-four of those calls were made using the challenged equipment after plaintiff had sent BCR a fax requesting that he not be contacted by telephone. Exhibit A contains the fax and confirmations plaintiff received after the fax went through.

3. Defendant disputes whether it received this fax.

4. Plaintiff issued his second set of discovery requests in order to gather information and data concerning the fax at issue. Exhibit B. Defendant has steadfastly refused to provide responses to this set of discovery requests, instead claiming that the response to request for admission 1, attached as Exhibit C, is sufficient. Plaintiff disagrees.

5. Exhibit C states the following:

Request for Admission 1: You received the communication attached as Exhibit A, in August, 2010.

Answer: Objection, the parties have settled Plaintiff's FDCPA claim which alleged that Defendant failed to calling him after receiving a cease and desist letter. Further, Plaintiff's Second Set of Discovery was filed immediately after Defendant had suggested that it would move for summary judgment on this claim because its records appeared to demonstrate that the facsimile machine in question was not operation on August 13, 2010, the date on which the subject facsimile was allegedly sent. Subsequently, Defendant learned that the facsimile was sent to a different number (not the one assigned to the malfunctioning machine). Defendant, however, does not have any records showing incoming facsimiles during the week of August 9, 2010, because the person assigned to logging incoming facsimiles failed to record incoming facsimiles. The employee in question was terminated shortly after August 10, 2010. Against this backdrop, consistent with FRCP 37(c)(2), Defendant states that lacks knowledge or information sufficient to admit the above Request. In so answering, Defendant states that it does not have any information to dispute that it was sent the subject facsimile on August 13, 2010, as Plaintiff contends. Further answering, Defendant cannot admit or deny receiving the facsimile because facsimile machine's internal data records from the asserted time period of August 2010, were overridden prior to Defendant receiving notice of this lawsuit, which occurred on or about December 15, 2010. Accordingly, while Defendant cannot admit that it received the facsimile in question, it does not believe that it can dispute receiving the facsimile in question consistent with FRCP 11.

6. Defendant cannot have it both ways: refuse to admit that it received a fax, and also refuse to provide any discovery about the circumstances of the fax. Furthermore, a party cannot just ignore discovery requests while taking the position that the plaintiff "has enough" to proceed with his case.

7. Because BCR failed to respond to any discovery requests in Exhibit B except one, it has waived all objections to the requests it ignored. Rule 33(b)(4) includes an "automatic" waiver provision: "Any ground not stated in a timely objection is waived unless the party's failure to object is excused by the court for good cause shown.” Autotech Technologies Limited Partnership v. Automationdirect.com, Inc., 236 F.R.D. 396, 398 n.2 (N.D. Ill. 2006) (Cole, J); Donnelly v. NCO Financial Systems, Inc., Donnelly v. NCO Financial Systems, Inc., 263 F.R.D. 500 (N.D.Ill. 2009)(failure to produce privilege log results in waiver of privilege).

8. This discovery is relevant to the case. Defendant claims that it had plaintiff’s prior express consent to make all of the autodialed and prerecorded message calls to plaintiff. Even if it had prior express consent to make the first twenty calls, it surely did not have plaintiff’s consent to receive the forty-four or so calls that it made to plaintiff after having received Exhibit A.

9. The parties have engaged in protracted discovery talks about this discovery. Even though counsel conducted approximately three telephone calls, and exchanged approximately six emails in the beginning of May, 2011, particularly on May 9 and 10, 2011, the parties still were not able to resolve these issues. Court intervention is therefore necessary.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court compel defendant to either admit for purposes of this case that it received Exhibit A, or compel defendant to respond fully to all discovery requests contained in Exhibit B.

2. If you are declining to produce any document or respond to any paragraph in whole or in part because of a claim of privilege, please: (a) identify the subject matter, type (e.g., letter, memorandum), date, and author of the privileged communication or information, all persons that prepared or sent it, and all recipients or addressees; (b) identify each person to whom the contents of each such communication or item of information have heretofore been disclosed, orally or in writing; (c) state what privilege is claimed; and (d) state the basis upon which the privilege is claimed.

3. If any document requested was, but no longer is, in your possession or subject to your control, please state: (a) the date of its disposition; (b) the manner of its disposition (e.g., lost, destroyed, transferred to a third party); and (c) an explanation of the circumstances surrounding the disposition of the document.

5. The requested materials should be produced in native format with all metadata intact, together with a bates-stamped copy produced in pdf format to help keep track of materials that have, or have not, been produced. To the extent that defendant finds this to be unduly burdensome for any particular document or set of documents, plaintiff asks that defendant explain in what format it maintains such materials in its written response, and timely meet and confer with plaintiff's counsel regarding these issues before the responses are due. Data for class members should be produced in sql format; plaintiff's counsel requests that defense counsel meet and confer with plaintiff before the responses are due with regard to formatting in order to make such process as efficient as possible.

6. "Predictive Dialer" as used herein means a telephone system that dials telephone numbers without human intervention. "Prerecorded Message" means any message during a telephone call that was (a) partially or completely recorded before the call was made, and (b) automatically relayed during a telephone call, without regard to whether such was performed to a live person, or on a person's voice mail.

7. For any request, if you contend that providing a complete response to any request is impracticable or impossible, please provide the most complete response as possible, explain what components or responsive information or documents is missing, and why you contend production of those materials is impossible or impracticable.

Other instructions and definitions to be used in making your response are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

If you contend that any paragraph of this request is ambiguous or unduly burdensome, please contact the undersigned immediately upon recognition of this contention, and an effort will be made to remedy the problem.

REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION

ANSWERS AND OBJECTIONS TO PLAINTIFF’S SECOND SET OF DISCOVERY

NOW COMES the Defendant, BUREAU OF COLLECTION RECOVERY, LLC, (“Defendant”), by and through its undersigned counsel, and for its Answers to Plaintiff’s Second Set of Discovery, states as follows:

Request to Admit

1. You received the communication attached as Exhibit A, in August, 2010.

Answer: Objection, the parties have settled Plaintiff’s FDCPA claim which alleged that Defendant failed to calling him after receiving a cease and desist letter. Further, Plaintiff’s Second Set of Discovery was filed immediately after Defendant had suggested that it would move for summary judgment on this claim because its records appeared to demonstrate that the facsimile machine in question was not operation on August 13, 2010, the date on which the subject facsimile was allegedly sent. Subsequently, Defendant learned that the facsimile was sent to a different number (not the one assigned to the malfunctioning machine). Defendant, however, does not have any records showing incoming facsimiles during the week of August 9, 2010, because the person assigned to logging incoming facsimiles failed to record incoming facsimiles. The employee in question was terminated shortly after August 10, 2010. Against this backdrop, consistent with FRCP 37(c)(2), Defendant states that lacks knowledge or information sufficient to admit the above Request. In so answering, Defendant states that it does not have any information to dispute that it was sent the subject facsimile on August 13, 2010, as Plaintiff contends. Further answering, Defendant cannot admit or deny receiving the facsimile because facsimile machine's internal data records from the asserted time period of August 2010, were overridden prior to Defendant receiving notice of this lawsuit, which occurred on or about December 15, 2010. Accordingly, while Defendant cannot admit that it received the facsimile in question, it does not believe that it can dispute receiving the facsimile in question consistent with FRCP 11.
